THE SO CALLED "CRANK."

More Dangerous Than the Outright Lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic.

In some ways the crank is more dangerous than the outright lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic. He is more dangerous than the outright lunatic.

Whenever and wherever a man is known to have made threats against any one, whenever menacing letters are traced back to him, whenever he is shown clearly to be of unsound mind and possessed by delusions, he ought to be placed under some restraint or surveillance, and whenever he carries his peculiarities to the length of making the community should be rid of him.

The insanity defense has done its work by saving a few real madmen from the scaffold, to drag out the rest of the living death that life is to them in asylums or to plot in dangerous to the community. But it has done untold encouragement and immunity to crime, and it has deprived us of some of our bravest and our best. The tolerance of the crank digs the mine and lays the train by which innocent men and valued citizens are to come to the end, when some popularly known danger and exciting circumstance has the disgraced mind of the crank in order. Embryo assassins stalk the streets of nearly all our large cities and are regarded only with a pitying smile. It is time that we drew the lines more strictly, and in the interest of self preservation provided for the crank a safe retreat. —St. Paul Pioneer Press.

SAVED BY THE BABY.

The Crying of a Child Aroused the Father and Saved the Family From Cremation.

A 22-month-old baby saved the lives of six people early yesterday morning and aroused the neighbors and saved the property of her father from destruction by fire. William Holdsworth and his son have a wheelwright and wagon works at Fifteenth street and Fairmount avenue. The second story of the factory is occupied by William Holdsworth, Jr., and his family, and in the third story George Gaskin, his brother-in-law, and Edna Khand have rooms.

At 9 o'clock in the morning Mr. Holdsworth, Jr., was awakened by the cries of his child, and smelling smoke he aroused his wife. The child was swinging in a hammock in the kitchen, and when Mr. Holdsworth went into the room he found flames eating up the woodwork.

The smoke was so thick that the father found his child with difficulty. By this time Mrs. Holdsworth had rushed into the room, and wrapping the bed clothing around the baby and an older child tried to effect an escape. In her haste she almost ran into the fire. Mr. Holdsworth saw his wife's peril and grabbed her before she was burned.

He groped his way down stairs, followed by Mrs. Holdsworth and the children, and knocked on the door leading from the shop to his father's house, 1429 Fairmount avenue. The occupants of the third floor had been awakened in the meantime, and all were safe in Holdsworth, Jr.'s house.

An officer of the Ninth district saw the blaze and turned in an alarm. In a half hour the fire was under control.

Mr. Holdsworth said last night that when he heard the child crying and saw into the kitchen the flames were close to the hammock where the infant had been asleep. He was sound asleep himself and if the baby had not cried he is sure that all in the house would have been burned to death. —Philadelphia Press.

Curfew Rings Every Night.
Like many of the old New England towns, Newburyport, Mass., retains some puritanical customs. Her announcements are made by a crier in the streets, and to strangers this crier is indeed a curiosity. Now the ringing of the curfew has been revived. This old custom was continued here without interruption till about 12 years ago, the city paying the crier for ringing the bell at curfew in two or three churches but it became a custom of the past.

Not again until Monday evening was curfew rung in the city. Then the people gathered in the streets of the Old South to hear the crier. An investigation they ascertained that a prominent member of the party had been given permission from the church to ring the bell every night at 9 p. m. to employ a man to carry out his desires. —Cor. New York World.

The Caravels to Winter at Chicago.
The Columbus caravels are to be allowed to winter in Chicago, and congress is to settle the question of their final disposition. Secretary Herbert received a telegram from the trustees of the Columbian museum of Chicago saying that they intend to petition congress for legislation necessary for the transfer of the caravels to that institution and asking that the vessels remain in Chicago in the meantime. Secretary Herbert replied that if the trustees would make satisfactory arrangements for the care of the caravels during the winter he would allow them to remain and await the result of their petition.

Best Known Signature in the World.
No personal or financial news has excited so much comment recently as the retirement of a man whose signature is better known and more widely distributed than any other in all the world. The name of F. May will no longer appear on the Bank of England notes. It is no secret that his resignation of the office of chief cashier in Chicago in 1892 was given under pressure. There is no imputation against May's integrity, and the bank will not suffer through him. —London Letter.

VIRGINIA ELECTION RETURNS.

The morning after the election in Virginia it was announced that the Democratic ticket was elected by 50,000 majority. No figures were given to indicate the vote for the several candidates, the mere claim of 50,000 majority being deemed sufficient. Captain Coke, the Populist candidate for Governor, stated that he could not ascertain what the vote was in his own county, less in the State, and no figures would be given out until the Legislature canvassed the returns. Now that duty has been performed and the result is officially declared as follows:

O'Ferral (Dem.) for Governor. 127,940
Coke (Populist) for Governor. 81,239
Miller (Prohib.) for Governor. 6,982
Democratic majority. 36,798
Democratic loss compared with 1892. 36,037
Populist gain compared with 1892. 73,964

It is alleged by the Populists that the returns were doctored in a large number of precincts. The Populists were not represented on the election boards, and as an illiterate colored man who represented the republican party on each board voted the Democratic ticket he did not object to counting the Populists out even if he knew that it was being done.

Captain Coke, the Populist nominee for Governor, was in the Confederate service. He is a native of Virginia and a member of an old and respected family. The votes he received were those of white men, the farmers being his staunchest supporters. The election machinery was all in the hands of his opponents, and the influence of the Administration was also used against him. Notwithstanding all these disadvantages it is believed that if the votes he received had been counted he would be the next Governor of the Old Dominion.

MEXICO AND COINAGE.

Senator Teller, who left for Mexico on a tour of observation at the close of the special session of Congress, has returned to Washington. Several receptions were given him by Mexican officials and he was entertained during his stay in the City of Mexico by President Diaz, with whom he had a number of conferences on the silver question. The Senator says Mexico is more prosperous than ever before under the change laws now in force. The coinage of silver is free at the mints and silver is a legal tender. This system, the authorities say, will not be changed though other countries might abandon the use of silver for monetary purposes. The officials and members of the upper classes in Mexico have a very intelligent understanding of the money question in this country. They believe the United States will, in the end, be compelled to put silver on an equality with gold and that a great mistake was made in closing the mints to silver.

Mexico gives to silver all the functions of money. It is coined at the mints, and when so coined is a legal tender for all debts. The State does not concern itself about what London gold dealers think of its financial system; the fact that it answers all the requirements of the people is sufficient. They are coining money for use at home, and the more of that money in circulation the more prosperous the inhabitants. The United States should profit by the example of Mexico and adopt a monetary system that will benefit our own country regardless of what European gold dealers may think of it.

ARIZONA AND STATEHOOD.

A few years ago it was generally supposed that Arizona would forever remain a Territory unless Congress annexed it to some more favored locality, as it would never have sufficient population or taxable property to entitle it to Statehood. It was pictured as the most desolate region on the American continent, and only fit for Apaches and gila monsters to live in. Now it demands Statehood for the following reasons: It has under cultivation 1,000,000 acres of land; it has 1,400 miles of irrigating canals, 1,200 miles of railroad and 1,700,000 acres of pine forests; it has $15,000,000 invested in mining machinery, $20,000,000 invested in live stock, $10,000,000 in general merchandise, $10,000,000 in canal construction, $25,000,000 of annual products, $80,000,000 of taxable property and only $800,000 indebtedness, and, last, but not least, 80,000 enterprising people.

Who, under such conditions, will say that Arizona is not entitled to admission as a Sovereign State? No one except the Eastern politicians who fear that the admission of silver-producing States will give the advocates of silver reorganization control of the United States Senate.

At Boise City, Idaho, Mrs. Abbott personated Mrs. C. L. Wing and at the instigation of Attorneys J. W. Badger and S. H. McCarty, made affidavit relative to lands and filed the same in the Land Office. Mrs. Abbott and the attorneys were indicted by the grand jury for perjury. Judge Beatty quashed the indictment, holding that the affidavit was not required by law, but by a Department ruling; therefore the women did not commit perjury, though she swore to an absolute falsehood.

The Board of Awards of the World's Fair has struck a balance on the awards made, which shows that foreign exhibitors secured 63 per cent. and domestic exhibitors only 37 per cent. of the prizes. Are the people to understand from this that foreign manufacturers excel those of the United States to the extent of 26 per cent. on articles entered for competition at the great exposition?

THE SILVER CONFERENCE.

An Explanatory Statement of Its Action.

SUGGESTIONS BY BANKERS.

A Statement of the Action of the Conference.

WASHINGTON, December 18.—A. J. Warner, President of the Conference of the Bi-metallic League, has given out the following explanatory statement of the action of the conference:

It was agreed: First—The money question is and will continue to be a paramount issue until settled rightly, and can be displaced by no other.

Second—The first battle is for the next Congress.

Third—To achieve results silver men must not only stay silver men after they reach Congress, but must put silver above party and work incessantly to accomplish the object for which they are selected.

A number of delegates favored organizing a new party with the money question as the sole issue, leaving the way open for affiliation not only with the People's Party, but the six millions who refused to vote at the late elections, but the majority believed the course finally agreed upon to be the better policy in the coming Congressional elections.

The conference recommended that the Bi-metallic League urgently suggest to the friends of silver everywhere that they support for the Fifty-fourth Congress only candidates who will pledge themselves to the following action in case of election: That they enter into no caucus restraining them from voting in accordance with their pledges, but unite with others favoring free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, and the issue of paper by the Government exclusively, and oppose the issue of bonds to buy gold.

The conference recommends that silver leagues everywhere be organized, with a view to controlling the election of members of Congress and State Legislatures; also that during the Winter two silver conventions be held, one in the South and the other in Des Moines, Iowa.

General King of Louisiana, E. D. Stark of Ohio and E. Sheldon of Connecticut and Chairman Warner were appointed on a union of American republics and other silver-standard nations of the world.

THE BANKING LAWS.

Suggestions from Business Men About Monetary Legislation.

WASHINGTON, December 18.—The House Committee on Banking and Currency has received a large number of replies to its invitation for suggestions from business men as to the wisest monetary legislation to meet the present demands.

Ex-Senator Charles B. Farwell of Chicago writes: "The Government ought long ago to have gone out of the currency business. It should pay the floating debt at once by the issue of long low-rate bonds, to be used by national banks at face value as a basis of circulating notes."

The Clearing-house Association of Seattle, though H. W. Wheeler, President of the Commercial Bank, and J. Elliott, President of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, offer suggestions as to the amendment of the National Banking laws.

The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco affirms the advantages of bi-metallic on a proper differential basis in the values of silver and gold, and adopts the following resolutions, which are transmitted to the committee:

Resolved, That this chamber respectfully urges upon Congress the enactment of a law calling in all paper circulation below the denomination of $10, and that the coinage of gold be restricted to coins of not less than $10, as the most effective and prompt methods of promoting the circulation of silver among our people.

Resolved, That we also recommend the changing of the National Bank Act so it will permit note circulation equal to the par value of Government bonds hypothecated to secure such circulation.

Blow the Top of His Head Off.

SACRAMENTO, December 18.—A shocking accident happened at Fishermen's Lake, about ten miles from here. A party composed of W. W. Norris, William Simons and John and David Pitt were out duck shooting. After stepping from the boat to the shore John Pitt picked up a loaded gun and drew it toward him. One of the hunters caught on the forward seat of the boat and the gun was discharged within a few inches of his head. The entire load of No. 5 shot entered near the ear and literally blew the top of his head off. The body was brought into town by his companions. The deceased leaves a widow and two children.

Cold Times for Tramps.

ASHLAND, Or., December 18.—One hundred and seventy-five tramp tourists came in from the north this evening on a freight train, occupying all the available space on top of a string of boxcars. A cold, clammy day made it rough traveling for them, and when they reached here they were all suffering fearfully from the cold and made a big hole in the railroad company's woodpile in getting half a dozen roaring fires started. The town has refused to feed them and there is some fear that they will resort to violence, though appearing to be a peaceable set of men.

This is the crowd that left Portland Wednesday evening, but their number has been considerably augmented along the road until yesterday at Grant's pass the crowd reached over 225, dropping off since.

The south-bound freight leaves Ashland about 4 o'clock to-morrow morning and they will have a cold camp to-night. All are bound for a warmer climate in California.

Protection for Americans.

NEW YORK, December 18.—The Herald's Washington special says: I have authority to state that the Navy Department has taken steps to increase the naval forces in Brazilian waters. This has been done on the presumption that the State Department will soon decide upon some definite and vigorous policy looking to the protection of American commercial prestige in Brazil. It can be reliably stated that both the cruisers New York and San Francisco, now in the West Indies, are slated for quick passage to Rio. They will be ordered to sail the moment the State Department gives the word.

Redmond Attacks Gladstone.

DUBLIN, December 18.—John Redmond speaking at a mass meeting at Tunn, reiterated the statement that the question of home rule has been shelved by the Government. He declared that the jury-packing which Gladstone and Morley denounced in 1890 was practiced last week at Cork, when forty-one Catholics were rejected for duty and Protestant jurors almost exclusively impaneled.

Telegraph Notes.

At the contest shoot at Sacramento Sunday between Company C of San Francisco and the famous Company F of Oroville resulted in a victory for the former. The score stood 40.8 average for the San Francisco as against an average of 38 for the Oroville company.

Notice.

Miss Edith Howe will give a reading Wednesday evening, December 21st, at the Nevada Club Gymnasium. The entertainment will consist of selections from Edwin Arnold, Austin Dobson, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mary Kyle Dallas and other interesting writers. ## Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. Woolbridge, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "One of my children had Croup. The coughs attended by an physician, and was exposed to be well under control. One day I was startled by the child's loud breathing, and on going to it found it strangled. It had nearly ceased to breathe. I feared that such remedies would be useless. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, a short interval, and very quick results. From the moment the first dose was given the child's breathing was free, and in a short time she was as usual, quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well today, and I do not feel free to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

THE HAWAIIAN QUESTION.

The President Sheds Light on the Situation.

As promised in his general message at the opening of Congress, the President has sent to that body a special message on the Hawaiian situation. He says right and justice should determine the path to be followed. If National honesty is to be disregarded and desire for territorial extension or dissatisfaction with a form of government different from our own is to regulate our conduct, he has entirely misapprehended the mission and character of our Government, and the behavior which the people demand of their public servants.

He recites the history of the Hawaiian revolution and quotes copiously from the official reports of Minister Stevens to our Government before the establishment of the Provisional Government in Hawaii to prove that Minister Stevens was in favor of subverting the monarchy. By order of this Minister, a detachment of marines from the United States steamer Boston, with two pieces of artillery, were landed in Honolulu. The men were supplied with double cartridge belts filled with ammunition and were accompanied by the hospital corps with stretchers and medical supplies. This demonstration he considered of itself an act of war. He believes a candid and thorough examination of the facts will force the conviction that the Provisional Government owes its existence to this armed invasion. The Queen surrendered not to the United States Government, but to the United States. The surrender was not absolute or permanent, but temporarily and conditionally, until such time as facts could be considered by the United States.

The instructions to Minister Willis were not to restore the Queen, but to endeavor to establish the relations existing when the United States troops landed. The Minister was to secure amnesty for those who participated in establishing the Provisional Government. The Queen would not accede to those terms.

The report of Blount and all the correspondence and instructions between the Department of State and Minister Willis is submitted with the message, and the President says he will be gratified to co-operate in any legislative plan which may be devised for the solution of the problem, which is consistent with American honor, integrity and morality.

The message, especially the instructions given Minister Willis, places the Administration in a much more favorable light than that in which it has been shown by Congressmen and the newspapers. No attempt has been made to use American troops to restore the monarchy; in fact the terms proposed to the Queen are not at all acceptable to her dusky majesty and her advisors.

FLORISTON NOTES.

The Ice Business—Lost in the Mountains. The outlook for an ice harvest looks favorable along the river. At Floriston Station the ice is about five inches in thickness, and at the mountain ponds above about nine inches. The ground is covered with snow several inches in depth.

It is reported that the Union ice houses are about empty. Considering their loss by fire last Summer of some 35,000 tons, it will require two crops of ice to fill their houses and fill the railroad cars.

Uly Simonds, who was reported lost up the Dysart Canyon last Thursday, showed up about 9 o'clock Friday morning. Realizing that it was impossible to make his way out during the night he built a large fire for a signal for searching parties and went into a cave, where he kept warm until daylight by keeping a small fire burning.

His father and brother were out all night hunting him, and searchers went out about daylight. A rifle shot at early morn attracted the searchers and he was located and all proceeded homeward. Uly, being without a coat and the mercury down near zero, caused people to think he would freeze to death in the mountains during the night.

Temperance Essay Contest.

A pleasing program will be presented at the M. E. Church this evening in connection with the essay contest by the pupils of the Senior and Middle classes of the High School. No topic of more vital importance to young or old could have been chosen as a theme on which the young people should exercise their powers of composition, furnishing as it does a salutary lesson for all. The pupils having done their part, a full house should greet and reward them for their efforts. All who come may be assured that the time will not be mispent, but that profit, instruction and pleasure will be their portion of the entertainment.

HIDDEN TREASURE FOUND.

Dayton Prospectors Unearthed Five Hundred Pounds of Amalgam.

Three prospectors found 500 pounds of amalgam while digging in the lot of Mr. Newman on Pike Street, Dayton last week. The amalgam is worth at least $12 a pound. Two of the lucky finders had just returned from the northern part of the State and evidently knew of the amalgam being concealed at the place where they unearthed it.

The finding of this amalgam brings up old-time reminiscences in this place, says the Times, and it is not very hard to account for how the amalgam got there. Some seventeen or eighteen years ago there lived in Dayton a man named Jim Laird, who was then employed in the Birdsell (now the Douglass) mill. Laird lived in a small house that stood where Manly Johnson's residence now is, just back of Mrs. Newman's house. He was arrested while working for Birdsell, charged with stealing bullion and amalgam from the mill, and a considerable quantity of the material was found in the cellar and under the floors of his house.

As it was supposed that most of the material had been recovered Birdsell did not prosecute Laird, but he was told to leave the place, and he did so, going north to Sheephead Springs, where it was known he resided for some time, and where he may yet be for all that is known. Putting the two occurrences together, it indicates that Mr. Birdsell did not find all the amalgam that Laird got away with, and that Laird gave Miller and his friend a pointer about the balance cached in the privy vault, and they came and dug it up. Miller was here about a year ago and tried to rent Mrs. Newman's house at that time, but for some reason he did not make the rifle.

JUSTICE COURT.

Two Cases Appear on the Docket.

Yesterday was a busy one in Justice Linn's Court. The opening case on the docket was the State vs. Marcus Fredrick, the first of a series of trials for violation of the cigarette law passed by the last Legislature. C. A. Jones, attorney for the defendant, submitted and argued a demurrer on the grounds that that portion of the act at least was unconstitutional which made it a misdemeanor to give away cigarettes, as the same is not mentioned in the title of the act. District Attorney B. F. Currier will reply to the demurrer at ten o'clock to-day.

The second case which came up was that of James King, arrested for vagrancy. The prisoner was as fine a looking specimen of physical manhood as one often sees. For several months he has been living off of the earnings of some fallen women, and had no other means of support. The jury, after being out a short time, returned a verdict of "guilty." He will be sentenced to-day.

The services were impressive and the body was laid to rest in Hillside cemetery.

There are two kinds the courts tell you—a temporary and a permanent injunction. A temporary injunction gives relief for a time only, but when you take Simmons Liver Regulator for Dyspepsia, and find yourself cured, that means a permanent injunction. It's the same when taking the Regulator for Malaria, and all affections of the liver and kidney.
